THE COMMON RULE HABIT PLANNER

A tool for turning a big vision into daily habits

"Change is the great dream of the human heart," wrote John O'Donahue. It has such a truth to it. Much of our daydreaming is imagining who we could be, how things might be otherwise, or how we could quit doing the things we know that we need to quit doing. The excitement of a new planner, a new year, or a new job is always the excitement that maybe you could be someone new this time.

This is resonant with our fundamental problem and our fundamental hope. The fundamental problem is that we are broken, sin-bent people, and we can't help it. So we really do need to change, but we can't change ourselves. But our fundamental hope is bigger than the problem, Christ is our life now - and that's a new life. We are being made new. These are the two truths that our life is spent between: We need to be made new. We are being made new. For this reason, I believe the practical disciplines of turning vision into habits is an urgent matter for Christians. Re-imagining your life in light of Christ, and then turning those imaginations into realities is the heart of sanctification and bearing out the good deeds that are planned for us. The chart in this PDF is a tool to help you do that. It tries to get you to think through who you are, who you want to be, and then how you might get there. I hope it helps you. It has helped me and some of those close to me.

As always, don't do it alone. Do it with someone else. If you're interested in more, check out www.thecommonrule.org for a set of daily and weekly communal habits designed for formation in the love of God and neighbor.

Best,

[HOW TO USE THE COMMON RULE HABIT PLANNER]

ON THE NEXT PAGE IS A CHART FOR THINKING THROUGH WHO YOU ARE, AND WHO YOU (THROUGH YOUR HABITS) ARE BECOMING. SIMPLE INSTRUCTIONS FOR GOING THROUGH IT ARE

THINK THROUGH YOUR ROLES

We are not just our careers, our bodies, or our family relationships. Our whole life is a web of different roles that we play, and it's hard to change one without impacting others. List 3.

LIST HABITS FOR EACH ROLE

Here is where vision meets reality. Our habits form us more than we form them. Starting listing out what kinds of rhythms or habits should be true of your daily or weekly life if you wanted to become that kind of person stated in your vision. This is far more important than goal setting. These should be almost mundane, achievable realities, that would - over time - be the guardrails guiding you towards your goal. Some should be "do not's" and some should be

SET A VISION FOR EACH ROLE

In each of our roles, we have a dream or a vision. Some north star of who we long to become, or who we want to emulate. Try to articulate this in a broad sort of vision statement. This should be big, beautiful, and compelling. It may be impossible to achieve, but that's OK. That's the point.

REVIEW AND REVISE

Ideally, you should be doing this in community. If so, set a time each month to review with someone. My wife and I do this every few months, for example, and my friends and I talk about it semi-annually. Make edits and adjust. Check in on benchmark goals to see if after some time you are coming any closer, or if you think actually that they should be scrapped. Print it out and put it in your journal. Email it to yourself. Revise it, over and over and over.
